

THE COMMONWEALTH.

The New Orleans True Delta shows up the mode by which the people have been excluded from all direct participation in the recent secession movements, and how the usurping Legislatures and Conventions have actually taken action against the popular will. The Delta article is full of significance.

Who Cares for the People?

In the movements that preceded, accompanied, and are likely to attend the consummation of the extraordinary revolution which has overthrown this government, nothing which has occurred is so remarkable as the heroic disregard of the popular strength and sovereignty which has signaled it. The State of Louisiana first commenced its share of the work that has been done, by recording the vote of the people against separate secession and a cotton confederacy; but scarcely had the delegates, elected with this recorded protest of the people before them, met in convention, than they utterly disregarded the restriction, and, in the style of John Perkins, Jr., ridiculed the idea of popular sovereignty. Then followed as a matter of course the election from among themselves of delegates to another convention in another State, the selection again by the members of this usurping cabal of members from among themselves to constitute a provisional government with just such limitations upon their irresponsible wills as they themselves might see fit to impose, and with no other check upon their possession of place and power than it may suit the interests or convenience of their mighty highnesses for appearance sake to create. We are told that in their secret wigwag they have made a constitution; we are pretty certain they have imposed rules, laws, and regulations ruinous to this city; and while the first, in some future day, may see the light and be fastened upon the people locally, we are in no doubt that, by the second, a different regime is upon us. The Louisiana delegation in the Montgomery dark-lantern conclave have, however, graciously appeared in print, with the comforting declaration that they and their associates are deliberating for their reciprocal advantage with unexampled harmony, conciliation, and fraternity; and that there is perfect truth in this assurance may implicitly be believed, for in the distribution of places and profits among each other, with the single reversion of our distinguished compatriot the Hon. Housman Sliell, who declined playing second fiddle to precipitator Yancey, everything has gone merry as a marriage bell. See with what alacrity, even to the neglect of his libel suit against the Yale story editors, our little man Benjamin hurried off to Montgomery, where, buried in the heaps of official requisitions, Yale and its reminiscences, Housman lands and the Floyd acceptances, are alike passed into utter forgetfulness. Amid all these important movements it is therefore laughable to find an occasional recollection of the possible dissatisfaction of the people some of these days at the hideous farce the political charlatans, now in the ascendant, so defiantly perform to the former's injury and the sacrifice of their best interests; for the most purblind of the dark-lanternists cannot be such a fool as to suppose that the people will never think of what the perils that surround them imperatively require for their own preservation, or that they will not soon come when the actors in the proceedings, who are now seemingly floating upon an irresistible current, will be called to a strict accountability. To vote themselves enormous salaries, to distribute among each other grand offices, and to arrogate to themselves powers, privileges, and importance unknown in the past history of America, may, for the present, all appear right to the contracted visions of the star-chamber conclave at Montgomery, who sharing the contempt for amenability to popular control, expressed by Mr. John Perkins, Jr., think no more is wanted than a strong bid and a comfortable saddle to enable them to ride, drive, slash, and spur the American people whose labor, industry, intelligence, and enterprise are to be ruinously taxed for the comfort and convenience of their imperious masters. We are somewhat dubious whether this complacent view of their exalted destinies will long be allowed unquestioned to the wigwagites of Montgomery, or of that or any other convention, and although the power of the people is hard at times to arouse to needful action, sooner or later it must come forth, and when it does we be to the quacks whose shallow ignorance and presumptuous egotism blinded them to its existence. Already we find among the most violent advocates of a Cotton Confederacy some misgivings that all is not right, that, to a certain extent only, alarming experiments upon popular forbearance may be tried with complete impunity; but experience having whispered to them that perhaps the submission point is pretty near reached, they are disposed to recognize the necessity of an appeal to the people, who, up to this time, they have been studious in ignoring. We incline to the impression that these late recognizers of popular sovereignty are about right, are wise of their generation; for although political vagaries and the hummersals of political harlequins may astonish and amuse for a time, and when the cost of the amusement is not too great, there will come a day when sober sense will examine the bills and prudence dictate the adoption of those precautions neglect of which has lost to people their liberties and made the purest governments the most insupportable of despotisms.

Notice.—The undersigned brethren hereby make known that they never signed their names to a list published last Friday in the Louisville Courier, as a call for a meeting; and furthermore, they state that they never will agree to keep up a political party excitement which will prevent an honorable settlement of differences at the sacrifice of the public peace and general welfare.

My dear Amelia, said Mr. Perkins to the young lady whose smiles he was seeking, I have long wished for this sweet opportunity, but I hardly dare trust myself now to speak the deprecations of my palpitating heart; but I declare to you, my dear Amelia, that I love you most tenderly; your smiles would shed—I say your smiles would shed—would shed—

Never mind the wood shed, said Amelia, go on with that pretty talk.

[For the Commonwealth.]

NICHOLAS COUNTY, March 18, 1861.

MR. EDITOR: While the good people of our county have been reposing in comparative quiet and safety, under the confident belief that Kentucky after proper deliberation had resolved firmly to maintain her present position in our Federal Union, as the course dictated by both her duty and her safety, we have been suddenly alarmed by the information that a secret scheme has been concocting by the enemies of our peace and our Union, to "precipitate" our loyal old State into revolution, by a bold and daring attempt to have a State Convention called contrary to the mode prescribed by our State Constitution. In our present state of alarm some of our citizens are now engaged in obtaining signers to petitions, to be sent on to Frankfort this week, protesting against any unconstitutional action on the part of our Legislature. As several days must elapse before the petitions can be forwarded to the Legislature, I enclose a copy of the petition for publication in the Commonwealth, at the proper time, that the Legislature may understand something of the wishes of the citizens of this county on this momentous question. A SUBSCRIBER.

PETITION.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky: The petition of the undersigned, citizens of Nicholas county, respectfully represents:

That we have learned with profound regret and alarm, that during the session of our Legislature in this month, an effort will be made to precipitate Kentucky into revolution, by calling a State Convention contrary to the mode prescribed by the Constitution. While, therefore, we desire to observe proper decorum and due respect, we feel it our solemn duty to protest in the strongest terms against any such action on the part of our Legislature. Kentucky is rightfully and constitutionally in the Union, and there it is our earnest desire that she shall remain. We believe that so long as we remain in the Union all our rights are secure, and that no danger can approach us. And we believe that if Kentucky should be precipitated out of the Union, we should then have no guarantee for any of our rights, life, liberty, or property.

Many of us have taken solemn oaths to support the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Kentucky.

We love our noble State! We love our national flag. We understand our rights, and wish to maintain them in the Union, and not out of it.

If a majority of the Legislature shall assume the power to call a Convention by any other mode than that prescribed by the Constitution of Kentucky, we know that such an act of usurpation on the part of our public servants would not be binding on the sovereign people. We maintain that Kentucky is bound in good faith to adhere to the Union. But if secession shall become the order of the day, and Kentucky should be unconstitutionally dragged out of the Union, we maintain that every county, and every citizen, has as clear a right to secede from the State, as the State has to secede from the Union, and we should feel at liberty to act accordingly.

We desire not to oppose any necessary legislation, but we respectfully suggest to your honorable body that we are averse to any unnecessary increase in our taxes at this time.

With the highest consideration, we remain your friends and fellow-citizens.

Jealousy and a Duel.

The London correspondent of the New Orleans Delta tells the following story:

An Englishman and his wife, a newly married couple, were traveling in the west of Germany. The Englishman was remarkable for his attachment to his wife, for his taciturnity, and the awkwardness, or want of savoir vivre, which was always getting him into scrapes. His wife was a rosy-cheeked, gay little thing, enjoying life to the utmost, and chattering like perpetual motion—no language coming amiss. The husband got the worst of it at the table d'hôte of Germany, of course, and did nothing but eat and drink, till his intellect, from the lack of use of his tongue and over use of his jaws, became a little stultified. At Spa they occupied the same place, day after day, and found the same neighbors, of course—the husband being compelled to silence, and the pretty and talkative wife compelled to talk for both. Her right-hand neighbor, Baron von Hagelbogen Stinkenhausen, was very attentive, a jolly fellow, always joking with the wife and drinking champagne with the husband. But the husband did not like the fascinating long mustache, and the whispering conversation, which, in a few days, was invariably carried on between the Baron and his wife. He had his fears, and proposed to leave the Spa, when he was met with "Oh! no, not yet, my dear, not for a few days, the Baron wishes me, he has something"—and seeing the great staring eyes of her husband fixed upon her, she grew confused, and stuttering something, went to her room with a heavy heart; and puffing vigorously at the weed, the husband heaved sigh after sigh at the approaching fate. "Ah! I will not be suspicious—I will watch her for some proof," was the Paddy-like corollary. Sure enough at dinner, the next day, the Baron and his wife chatted as mysteriously as ever in Hoch Deutsch. "What is it you have to say to the Baron, my dear, so frequently?" said the husband, and master at last, summoning courage. "Oh! nothing, love, nothing," uttered with a deep blush, proved the fears of the husband to be well founded.

After dinner, contrary to custom, the Baron rose, and did not set down his champagne, and the Englishman's wife rose also, and soon after followed the Baron into the inner room—one, however, common to the visitors of the hotel. The Englishman could stand it no longer, but walked at to the folding doors, just in time to see through an aperture the Baron deliver a splendidly bound book to the lady, and obsequiously bowing, kiss the hand of his wife, continental fashion, which, in his ignorance, the Englishman did not know meant the utmost reverence; and indeed it is a very agreeable way of showing it. Should he accuse his wife then and there? No; he could never bring it in to his head to exchange a cross word with her; so he would rush off to the table and play rouge et noir till all was blue. But it was raining cats and dogs, and there was no cab. So he sat down again and drank deeply. The Baron returned on account of the bad weather, too, and sat opposite, imbibing his Rudesheim. The Englishman at last could bear his feeling no longer, and roared out "My wife in the next room," in a half sort of dialect which the Briton chooses as most explanatory when he cannot make himself understood by whole sentences. The Baron shook his head. "My wife, sir," roared out the Englishman. The Baron grinned and tried English. "Yas, yas, all right." A glass of champagne full in his baronial phizog was his reward for the attempt. "A domain, monsieur," screamed the infuriated German. "What does he say?" said the Englishman to a friend who came up at the row. "Why, to-morrow, my dear friend means a duel; what have you done?" Suspicions, and the consequent actions on those suspicions, were at once related, and it was declared that the matter should be settled in an honorable way to gentlemen, and the devilish kind friend took upon himself to see that. The Englishman's honor was duly cared for. The arrangement was for six the next morning, and the sulky husband scarcely spoke a word to his pretty and astonished better-half.

Next morning the Baron was on the ground with two seconds, Germans, who spoke English and French. After a shot was exchanged an explanation was suggested, which, of course, would not have been a rational thing to start with. The English second spoke French, and, as that is the language of war as well as diplomacy, the seconds had a chatter. But he returned to the Briton number one with only a very faint clue. They say something about cor, which is the French for horn, and "I take it the Baron wanted to teach your wife the horn."

"Horn be—something; do you wish to apply that word to me, sir, in an equivocal sense? Let the affair go on. I am not satisfied." "No, sir!" exclaimed the most learned of the German seconds, who had approached and overheard the confabulation. "No, no!" said he in English, "not a horn, but a corn on your foot; my friend the Baron is a chiropodist; and your wife wished to have her corns cut; the book he loaned Madame, your wife, was a list of the testimonials from crowned heads and the most eminent personages in Europe, above all, from the ladies, stating their perfect reliance on his honor to keep their secret, and trust and confidence in his skill. 'Voila tout.' Another British, 'Oh, d—, is that all?' and an extended hand to the doctor of corns settled the matter, and they had breakfast as all duelists do who get through a nasty bit of business, because it is astonishing how much powder and early morning air improve the appetite.

The wife was anxiously awaiting her husband at the hotel, and anxious about his having slipped out of bed so early without her perceiving it. After the first warm embrace was over, the relish of life and love which he was so near losing in the morning by an unlucky fall, the husband exclaimed: "My dear, you are troubled with corns; I know it; it is no use hanging down your head, my love the secret is out." "My love, I confess it," replied the tender creature; but I had no idea that they were so hard as to have inconvenienced you, and cause you to leave your bed so early; but I have taken excellent advice—a professor promises to cure them without pain." "I know all, my love; the professor shall cure mine, too, for I, too, am a sinner."

A Rich Document.—Being in the nature of an Ukase, put forth by a half-dozen self-appointed Guardians of the "Interests and honor of Kentucky!"

The following little arrangement sneaks strongly of Yancey. As a specimen of cool impudence, and most comfortable self-assurance, it is worth preserving:

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 8, 1861.

DEAR SIR: We suggest to you the importance of at once making arrangements either privately or publicly, as you deem best, by which your county will be represented by several delegates, who will attend a Convention at Frankfort, which we propose to hold on the 20th inst.

By this means the Legislature can be instructed in regard to the sentiment of the entire State, and doubtless upon learning it will immediately take such action as the interests and honor of the State demand. We would also advise that signatures should be got to a petition for a Convention, and that they should either be sent here and thus be forwarded in a mass, or be presented to the Legislature by our respective members.

In many parts of the State southern rights clubs have been formed for the purpose of organizing an effective band of true southern men, who will use their influence at once to place Kentucky in her proper position. We would recommend that you should also form similar clubs at once in every precinct of your county under this heading:

"We, the undersigned, believing that the dissolution of the Union is a fact, and that Kentucky must take her choice between the North and South, agree to form an association for the purpose of maintaining southern rights and placing Kentucky in her proper position with the South."

Immediately after the formation of such clubs please apprise us of the names of officers, number in the club and prospect of increasing it.

The tone of Mr. Lincoln's inaugural address, indicating most unmistakably an intention on the part of the new administration to attempt the subjugation of the States that have seceded from the Union, appeals to the interest and safety of our people for some prompt and decisive action, and we know of no better or more effectual way of indicating our determination than that suggested.

We hope a large delegation will be in attendance from your county, and to that end we rely upon your assistance.

THE COMMONWEALTH. FRANKFORT.

J. H. JOHNSON, Editor.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20, 1861.
EIGHTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

For Congress: JOHN J. CRITTENDEN.

HON. JOHN J. CRITTENDEN—Mr. Crittenden will be in Frankfort to-day. Our citizens have made arrangements to give the glorious old patriot a reception worthy of his great name and eminent public services.

NOTICE.—All who desire to participate in the ceremonies of welcoming Mr. Crittenden to-day, can procure badges at the saddle shop of Mr. James D. Pollard, on St. Clair street, near the court house.

Kentucky Legislature—Attention.
The convention of pedagogues which assembles to-day for your "instruction," will meet early this morning, and vouchsafe to you such information as you may need. It is, therefore, expected that the Legislature will get up early, wash its face, comb its hair, and start off to Blant Duncan's school for feeble-minded legislators. Hold up your heads, speak loud and plain, and drink in words of wisdom.

In the first place you are to be "instructed" concerning the sentiment of the people of your respective counties. Mayhap you think you know that already! Benighted individuals, you haven't read the Louisville Courier. Know ye not that you are "missionaries?" Your hearts have yet to be instructed, and your minds fired by a coal from the altar of Yancey, before you are capable of attending to "the interest and honor of Kentucky."

But there is balm in Gilead. There is yet hope for you. The pedagogues are here and are overflowing with wisdom which they are willing to impart to you. Be thankful and grateful. These traveling apostles of disunion, disregarding the scorn of good citizens and anathematizing the expense, have come to Frankfort to remove the scales from your eyes. Just look at the array of erudite Colonels waiting to make you wise. Their lofty brows are contracted with the cares of State. Their piercing eyes are dimmed with tears of the crocodile persuasion. Their fierce moustaches are quivering with anxiety for your welfare. Their hair is turned prematurely gray, over the lost condition of Kentucky.

General Assembly, if you don't improve this occasion for getting crowned with wisdom, you deserve to be as ignorant as Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, and Crittenden.

"The Great Half-Dozen."

The six modest gentlemen of Louisville open their school for Legislators to-day. It must be a source of gratification to the country at large, and to the members of the Legislature particularly, that in these troublous times six men have been raised up for the purpose of saving the country. Like the twelve Apostles, they were not taken from the ranks of the mighty men of the country, but were selected from the ranks of ordinary human people. There is, however, this striking dissimilarity between the apostolic dozen and the half dozen guardians: The Apostles were called by the Great Ruler of the Universe, whereas the six guardians called themselves.

As the pedagogic Convention commences its labors to-day, we, in common with an anxious world, suspend our breath and our remarks, and await its action with awful solicitude.

NOT DISCOURAGED.—At the first session of the present Legislature, the secessionists who came here to "instruct" the members most solemnly declared that before this time there would be civil war unless Kentucky went out. Well, Kentucky did not go out, nor has civil war commenced yet. On the contrary the prospect for peace is much better than it was then. But the secessionists, with that unconsciousness of passing events which distinguishes true fanatics, are nothing daunted. They still keep up their raven croak of "civil war," "submission," "interest and honor," and all that sort of nonsense. They, like trained parrots, have but one set of answers for all arguments.

CANDIDATES FOR CONSTABLE.—John W. Pruett, Thomas J. Hutchison, and Wm. T. Flynn are candidates for Constable in this district. The two first are Union men, but we understand that Mr. Flynn is a secessionist. Of course he will receive the baker's dozen of secession votes in this district. He deserves them, and no more. We can't understand why a man should desire office under a government which he is trying to break up.

THE ILLEGITIMATE CONVENTION which the "six guardians" called to meet here to-day, was conceived in sin and born in iniquity. Its sole object is to drag Kentucky out of the Union, and hitch her to the tail end of the Jeff. Davis Confederacy. We can assure these self-appointed overseers of Kentucky, that the people will not stand any such nonsense.

WE call the particular attention of the Legislature to the circular of the six guardians of the "interest and honor of Kentucky," which we publish in another column. Read and ponder! Become inspired and strong, and don't despair of the Republic. If one goose saved Rome, we surely ought to feel encouraged when six of these sprightly fowls set up such a warning cackle.

The Ophidian Institute.

DISUNION TAUGHT IN SIX EASY LESSONS!

Particular attention paid to the Members of the Kentucky Legislature.

THIS educational "Institute" opens in Frankfort to-day under peculiar auspices. It has engaged an efficient corps of teachers, all of whom graduated under Professor Yancey, and is prepared to "fire the southern heart, and instruct the southern mind," in the most modern fashion. The array of teachers is imposing, and if they don't succeed in imposing upon the people of Kentucky, it will be through no lack of intention or effort on their part.

FACULTY.

HON. JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE—Prof. of "Inexorable Logic."
COLONEL ROBERT MCKEE, E. L. C., Prof. of elegant epithets, and chief fireman of "the southern heart."
COLONEL BLANTON DUNCAN—Professor of politics. Having graduated in all the parties, the Colonel is peculiarly well qualified for that important post. He will also give instruction in the art of writing secret circulars, whereof he exceedingly excels.
COLONEL W. PRESTON JOHNSTON—Prof. of modern letter writing.
COLONEL R. T. DURRETT—Prof. of modern log rolling, and Instructor General to "the southern mind."
COLONEL C. Q. ARMSTRONG, } Janitors.
COLONEL W. C. BROOKS, }

MEETING OF THE SECESSIONISTS.

THE CLOVEN FOOT REVEALED!

THE MAJORITY PROSCRIBED BY THE MINORITY.

THE SENTIMENT OF OLD FRANKLIN!

ROBERT W. SCOTT, CHAIRMAN.

In the Yeoman of Saturday appeared the following call:

SOUTHERN RIGHTS MEETING.—We are requested to state that there will be a meeting of the citizens of Franklin county, in favor of Southern Rights, and opposed to coercion, held at the court house, on Monday next, at 2 o'clock P. M.

We desire our readers to pay particular attention to the language of the foregoing invitation, as it has a great bearing upon what we have to say about this meeting. Our readers will remember that we published this call, and at the same time stated that it was our opinion that it was but a mere device—a trick of the enemy, originated for the purpose of creating a false impression respecting the sentiments of the people of this county. The sequel demonstrated the correctness of our supposition.

The meeting was of immense importance in two points of view at least. 1st, It developed the real design of the disunionists, and stripped from their faces the mask of Southern Rights, behind which they have been plotting mischief since the nomination of Breckinridge.

2. It demonstrated most conclusively that at least three-fourths of the people of Franklin county are true to the Union and the Constitution. We will give an abstract of the proceedings:

In the first place, the meeting was highly entertained by a speech from S. D. Morris, Esq. Before its conclusion some of the secessionists became very uneasy, and finally just before Mr. Morris closed his speech, Col. George B. Burnley proposed that all the Southern Rights men proceed to the court house steps and organize. In response to some inquiry, Col. Burnley said that they did not want any Union men to join them. In obedience to this very exclusive invitation, about twenty-five Lincoln fanatics seceded. Just as they retired Mr. Morris concluded his remarks, and they—the seceders—came back. We remained to see the show. Some one moved that Robert W. Scott take the Chair, which Robert W. Scott proceeded to do without waiting for any further action of the meeting. Mr. Robert W. Scott thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him, which was exceedingly polite in Mr. Robert W. Scott, inasmuch as the convention had had no voice in the matter at all.

At this point Judge Mason Brown arose to ask a question of the Chair (Mr. Robert W. Scott). He said that he had read the call in the Yeoman, and being strongly in favor of Southern Rights, he wanted to know if he would be permitted to speak and vote on resolutions presented to that body. The Chair—Mr. Robert W. Scott—said that he had understood that the meeting was called for the purpose of appointing delegates to the convention to assemble here on Wednesday (i. e. the illegitimate convention called by "The Great Half-Dozen"). Judge Brown then read to the Chair (Mr. Robert W. Scott), from the Yeoman the call for the convention, and pressed the point upon the mind of the Chair (Mr. Robert W. Scott), that nothing was said about appointing delegates to such a convention. Notwithstanding all this, and in the face and eyes of the repeated declaration of Judge Brown that he was strongly in favor of Southern Rights, and opposed to coercion, and that he had been invited there by the Kentucky Yeoman, the Chair (Mr. Robert W. Scott) had the bad taste to decide that Judge Brown had no right to open his mouth in that convention.

John M. Harlan, Esq., then arose for the purpose of asking for information. Before he could ask his question, the Chair (Mr. Robert W. Scott) had the exceeding politeness (considering that he had been placed in that position by nomination merely and not by a vote of the convention) to inform Mr. Harlan that they had no time to hear speeches. Mr. Harlan considering himself invited by the call in the Yeoman, did not become utterly annihilated by the decision of the Chair (Mr. Robert W. Scott), but asked in most respectful terms, if those who were opposed to a "Sovereignty Convention" (called by the six wise men of Louisville), would be permitted to speak and vote. The Chair (Mr. Robert W. Scott), very promptly decided that they would not.

Several other gentlemen having asked similar questions and receiving similar answers from the Chair (Mr. Robert W. Scott), on motion of Judge Mason Brown, the true Union men present in favor of Southern Rights and opposed to coercion (see call in Yeoman), left the convention in which they were not allowed to speak, and assembled in the court house yard. About four-fifths of the crowd left, and were addressed in eloquent and patriotic speeches by Messrs. Mason Brown, John M. Harlan, John L. Scott, James H. Garrard, and Orlando Brown. After the crowd left the court house, we are informed that notwithstanding the decision of the Chair (Mr. Robert W. Scott), there was plenty of time for speeches, as Mr. Alphabet Tribune kept that immense audience of fifteen or twenty seceders spell bound by his eloquence for two hours. Selah!

The speeches made in the court house yard were all good, and elicited shout after shout of applause from the crowd. Taken all in all, the affair was peculiarly rich and racy. It revived the hopes of the Union men, and if the seceders are not as blind as rattlesnakes in August, they must see that their disunion schemes will not be tolerated in this county.

DEATH OF CLAUDE M. JOHNSON, Esq.—The press of Lexington announces the death of Claude M. Johnson, Esq., on last Saturday night, at his residence in that city. "The deceased," says one of our Lexington contemporaries, "was a gentleman of high social and intellectual qualities, and enjoyed to a remarkable extent the confidence, esteem, and regard of his friends and acquaintances. Blessed with all that is calculated to make life desirable—family, wealth, position—his early death will be deeply mourned, not only by those who are connected with him by ties of blood, but a very extended circle of warmly attached friends here and elsewhere. After a life's fitful fever, may he sleep well." In this prayer we venture reverentially to join. The sleeper was one of the truest and most generous spirits that "life's fitful fever" ever fretted away.

Letter from Morgan County.

WEST LIBERTY, KY., March 13, 1861.

MR. EDITOR: Allow one who is not in the habit of writing much of anything, and who is wholly unaccustomed to writing for the public eye, to make a suggestion in your paper: It is the propriety of the enactment of a law by the legislature of Kentucky, that if any one of her citizens hereafter should voluntarily take or send his slave into a free State, that such slave shall not any more be allowed to return to Kentucky, either voluntarily or otherwise. The baneful influence which the population of a free State can exert on the mind of a slave, and that slave in his turn impart to all others with whom he may have intercourse, is so apparent to the mind's eye that it is matter of astonishment that such a law has not been already passed. I barely make the suggestion, and leave it for those accustomed to write for the public to enforce it, if they think proper. HERMIT.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company have their cars lighted with gas. This gas, the Pittsburgh Chronicle says, is supplied at Altoona, where the Company makes it, the coal being quite handy for that purpose. The gas is received from the works, pumped into receivers, under very high pressure, and by means of pipes, is conducted from the stationary receivers to the cars, and there enters a receiver on each car, seven feet six inches high, fourteen inches in diameter, and which, with a pressure of five hundred to six hundred pounds, contains sufficient to supply two six feet and one three feet burner from sixteen to eighteen hours or one round trip. The use of gas proves satisfactory to the passengers.

A SUGGESTION TO THE GREAT HALF-DOZEN.—Had you not better postpone your school for a few days, and attend Dr. Rodman's school for the feeble-minded yourselves, before you set up teaching? We make this suggestion, because many persons believe that the members of the Legislature know as much now as their six self-appointed instructors.

FRANKFORT, KY., March 18, 1861.

To the Editor of The Commonwealth:

DEAR SIR: You will please announce me as a candidate for re-election to the office of Constable, in this, the First District of Franklin county, at the ensuing May election.

JOHN W. PRUETT.

Yeoman copy till election.

At the last annual fair of the National Agricultural Society, Mrs. Marie T. Davies, of Harrodsburg, Kentucky, was awarded a diploma for the best essay on Home Education. Two or three years ago the same lady received the premium from the Kentucky State Fair, for an article on the Culture of the Chinese Sugar Cane.

The Nashville Patriot is indignant at the expulsion of Mr. Tharlan, formerly Yancey's law partner, from the "Southern Confederacy," for an being Anti-Secessionist. It says that such occurrences are not well calculated to commend the Cotton States to the good opinion of people who have some sentiment of freedom left.

The March term of the Franklin Quarterly Court meets next Monday. We are requested to state that Judge Harlan will be present and hold that court. Any litigant desiring subpoenas in his absence can obtain them by calling on the County Clerk.

ELECTION OF ASSOCIATE JUDGE OF THE COURT OF APPEALS.—From the returns already in, there is no doubt that Joshua F. Bullitt is elected by a large majority.

Reception of Hon. John J. Crittenden.

At a meeting of the citizens of Frankfort and Franklin county, held on the 19th day of March, 1861, Gen. Peter Dudley was called to the chair, and Chas. Haydon was appointed Secretary.

The following resolutions were offered by Judge Mason Brown, and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, our beloved citizen and patriot, the Hon. John J. Crittenden, will return to his cherished home on the evening train of to-morrow, we will take great delight in clasping him to our bosoms, after his noble struggle for the best interest of America; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we will welcome him at the door of his own dwelling on his return, and extend to him every cordial welcome of true Kentucky hearts.

Resolved, That the Executive of the State, and all heads of Departments, and the members of the Legislature, are most respectfully invited to unite with us in welcoming to his State one who has ever upheld the honor of that State.

Resolved, That the Governor be most respectfully requested to place in the hands of our citizens such artillery and banners in possession of the Government as they may wish to use on the occasion.

Resolved, That — be appointed to express to Mr. Crittenden the joy which Kentucky feels at his safe return home.

Resolved, That a committee of twenty citizens be appointed to make the necessary arrangements for his reception, and to conduct him to his residence.

On motion of Phil. Swigert, the name of Mason Brown was inserted to fill the blank in the 4th resolution.

On motion Capt. H. I. Todd, the following gentlemen were appointed a committee of arrangements:

Peter Dudley, Geo. W. Berry, M. A. Gay, G. W. Craddock, G. W. Gwin, J. D. Pollard, E. H. Taylor, W. H. Gray, J. No. Lindsey, P. Swigert, T. N. Lindsey, R. C. Anderson, R. K. Woodson, Thos. S. Page, J. H. Garrard, Alex. Julian, Hilary Bedford, Alex. Macklin, A. C. Keenon, Jno. M. Hewitt, E. M. Blakemore, L. H. McCreary, J. Scott, C. D. Morris, H. Wingate, J. R. Gay, A. G. Cammack, Wm. Hall, W. W. Graham, D. W. Lindsey, R. P. Steele, B. F. Meek, A. W. Dudley, Jno. Steadman, John L. Stiff, Jno. H. Terry, Church Bailey, Robt. Church, Zac. Lewis, W. H. Keene, Jno. L. Harvie, Lewis Crutcher, Wash. Hancock, Jno. Macklin, A. C. Hemming, Jacob Swigert, R. E. Bolling, James Milam, Joseph Bell, Leroy Woldridge.

And then the meeting adjourned.

PETER DUDLEY, Chairman.

CHAS. HATTON, Sec'y.

RELIGIOUS.—There has been an interesting revival in progress at the Christian Church in this city, for the last two weeks. The meetings have been conducted by the Pastor, Elder W. T. Moore, assisted part of the time by Elder John Shackelford, of Paris, Ky. Up to this time there have been some twenty-nine additions to the congregation, and an unusual interest excited in the community. The meeting is still in progress, and we understand it will be continued during the present week.

As we published the remarks referred to, we very gladly give place to the following correction from Sunday's Louisville Democrat:

There was an error in our account of what Blanton Duncan said to Mr. Smyser on Friday night. He did not warn Mr. Smyser not to come up to the stand, or bloodshed would ensue; but did say, if a collision occurred from the interference of Mr. Smyser and his friends with the meeting, they would be responsible.

PARDONED.—A telegram was received at Covington, Ky., on Saturday, from Colonel George B. Hodge, at Frankfort, announcing that Governor Magoffin had granted a pardon to Joseph Temple, who had been awarded a term in the penitentiary for perjury.

ST. LOUIS, March 18.
After several days' balloting for United States Senator, Mr. Green's name was withdrawn to-day and Waldo H. Johnson was nominated instead, who was elected on the 2d ballot. The vote was as follows—Whole vote 145—necessary to a choice 73—Johnson received 80, Doniphan 26, English 29.

ANOTHER NEW WEAPON.—Experiments are about being made at Vincennes, France, with a steel cannon, which we are told, will blow both Whitworth and Armstrong out of water.

[See Journal.]
Pshaw! The Jeff. Davis Confederacy uses none but steel cannon.

OLD CROW WHISKY.—H. R. Powell, opposite the Post-office, has just 150 bottles of this celebrated whisky, nine years old. In consideration of the times, Mr. Powell will sell this lot at $1 per bottle.

SUICIDE FROM JEALOUSY.—Mrs. Caroline M. King, of New York, last week killed herself by taking corrosive sublimate, because she found a pair of lady's gloves in her husband's pocket.

A KENTUCKY APPOINTMENT.—Hon. Green Adams, of Kentucky, has been appointed Sixth Auditor to the Postoffice Department by President Lincoln. Mr. Adams was a member of the last Congress.

The Memphis Bulletin has information that a number of citizens of Illinois have forwarded two thousand five hundred sacks of corn to Vicksburg, to be distributed among the destitute.

THE CHORUS.—The Glasgow Free Press says that never has the agricultural portion of the Green River country presented a more flattering prospect for grass than now.

The spirit of secessionism even in the Border Slave States is the spirit of mobocracy. Look at secessionism in Richmond and in Louisville!—Lou. Journal.

The Union party of Tennessee have called a convention for nominating a Governor, to meet at Nashville on Thursday, May 2d.

Collins, a Mississippi woodchopper, has, within a few years, realized over $100,000 by selling wood to steamboats.

It will be seen that Mr. Green, of Missouri, has been defeated for the United States Senate. Good.

Senator Crittenden has left Washington for Kentucky. We hope that our citizens, generally, will give him a cordial reception, and not allow the secessionists to tender, and he be deluded into the acceptance of a public dinner, as that firebrand clique have intended and attempted.

[See Democrat.]

The enterprising proprietor of CHESTNUT GROVE Whisky (The Purest Medicinal Agent ever known), has furnished the community a stimulant Pure, Healthful and Invigorating, at the same time a mild, delicious beverage. It is calculated to do away with the vile drugged stuff that is palmed off on the community, and which is injurious to body and mind. In addition to the certificates beneath, he has received a Diploma from the State Agricultural Society, and additional testimony from Dr. Jackson, of Boston, who testifies under oath to its absolute purity.
CERTIFICATES.
Philadelphia, Sept. 9th, 1858.
We have carefully tested the sample of Chestnut Grove Whisky you sent us, and find that it contains none of the Poisonous Substances known as Fusil Oil, which is the characteristic and injurious ingredient of the whiskeys in general use.
BOOTH, GARREY & CAMAC, Analytical Chemists.
New York, Sept. 3, 1858.
I have analyzed a sample of Chestnut Grove Whisky, received from Mr. Charles Wharton, Jr., of Philadelphia, and having carefully tested it, I am pleased to state that it is entirely free from poisonous or deleterious substances. It is an unusually pure and fine flavored quality of whisky.
JAS. R. CHILTON, Analytical Chemist.
Boston, March 7, 1859.
I have made a chemical analysis of commercial samples of Chestnut Grove Whisky, which proves to be free from the heavy Fusil Oils, and perfectly pure and unadulterated. The fine flavor of this Whisky is derived from the Grain used in manufacturing it.

THE KENTUCKY FARMER.
ONLY ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM!!
NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE!!
THE SECOND VOLUME of the "KENTUCKY FARMER" closed with the month of June, and the Third Volume commenced in July last. We promised two years ago to try and give to the Agriculturalists and Stock Raisers of Kentucky a paper worthy of their patronage. We put the question now to every one of its patrons: Have we redeemed that pledge? Have we given you a fair equivalent for the DOLLAR which was paid for the KENTUCKY FARMER? If so, let every one of our present subscribers renew their own subscriptions, and send us one or more additional names for the THIRD VOLUME.
The receipts for the First Volume about paid the expenses of its publication. We promised our patrons that we would publish ONE VOLUME whether we obtained a sufficient amount to pay its expenses or not. We redeemed that pledge. The subscription list increased for the Second Volume, but is nothing like so large as it should be. Shall we have the kind and continued support of its present patrons, together with their aid in extending its circulation? If so, we promise to do everything in our power to make the paper worthy of a generous Kentucky public.
The "KENTUCKY FARMER" will still be published monthly, in its present form of sixteen large pages, upon the ONE DOLLAR per annum, payable invariably in advance. As the small amount charged for the paper will not justify the trouble and expense of collecting subscriptions, no paper will be forwarded unless paid for in advance.
Subscriptions can be forwarded to us by mail at our risk. Letters addressed to us need not be registered. Address is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing veins, and, above all, by the venereal infection. What-ever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This fatal corruption, which renders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination, and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.
One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alternative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this every where prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedies that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as ERYTHRA and SKIN DISEASES, ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, ROSA, or ERYTHRA, PIMPLES, PUSTULES, BLOTCHES, BLAINS and BOILS, TUMORS, TETTER and SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, RINGWORM, RHEUMATISM, SYMPHATIC and MERCURIAL DISEASES, DROPSY, DYSENTERIA, DEBRILITY, and, indeed, ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VITATED OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can be removed without the aid of their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitality. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down by pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and invigorating.
Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also they furnish a powerful and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis his American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Coughs, Heartburn, Headache arising from disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in the Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF
Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.
So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of our country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted that can never be forgotten, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is sure to regulate the Bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and Benefit and Health to your Infants.
We have just put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth, of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of the highest commendation of its magical effects and medicinal virtues. We speak in this matter "what we do know" after ten years' experience and pledge our reputation for the fulfillment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and inflammation, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the Syrup is administered.
This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England, and has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS in

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY for the world in ALL cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA in CHILDREN, whether it arise from teething or from any other cause.
